0:00 0:03

Puffy white clouds, mountains, forest of spruce trees.

0:04 0:16

[VOICEOVER] Welcome to the Common Learning Portal of the National Park Service. Here in the Park Service, we've often struggled to find a way to connect on more than 20,000 employees...

0:16 0:17

Park rangers.

0:17 0:18

[VOICEOVER] ...and over 400 parks...

0:18 0:19

Earth.

0:19 0:21

[VOICEOVER]...as we work across 10 time zones around the globe.

0:21 0:22

A broken bridge divides two rangers.

0:23 0:27

[VOICEOVER] Trainings can be difficult to attend and mentors can be difficult to find.

0:27 0:28

Rangers around a campfire.

0:29 0:33

[VOICEOVER] Our experiences are often isolated, and experts can be out of reach.

0:33 0:34

Ranger vanishes.

0:34 0:35

[VOICEOVER] That is until now.

0:35 0:37

Electrical plugs connect.

0:37 0:45

[VOICEOVER] The common learning portal is here to connect us. It provides learning opportunities anytime, anyplace, and on any device.

0:46 0:47 Mobile phone.

0:47 0:49

[VOICEOVER] The knowledge park provides a library of resources...

0:49 0:50

Books.

0:50 0:54

[VOICEOVER] ...and the commons connects you to new friends and colleagues across the park service.

0:54 0:55

Park rangers.

0:55 1:06

[VOICEOVER] So come join us – take classes, share lessons, find answers, connect, be inspired, and become a part of the new learning experience in the National Park Service.

1:06 1:08

Arrowhead logo - National Park Service.